

These poems are my love song and worship to God. I just want to use my poetry to express why God created man. To exalt, glorify, honor, praise and worship him. That's what my poems are all about.

I am originally from Nigeria, and have published bunch of my poems in the local news papers, started 'Press club" during my nursing days all in Nigeria. Poetry is my passion. I have published some of my poetry together with other poets in the book "Forever Spoken'. I use my poems to glorify God.

I am a member of New Mexico State Poetry Society, National Federation of State Poetry Societies and also an active member of children's project in my state which entails going to elementary schools to teach them how to write poetry.

I live and work in Albuquerque New Mexico with my family.
